

Table of Contents
The Italian Law Journal
Special Issue

The 2016 Italian Constitutional Referendum: Origins, Stakes, Outcome

edited by Paolo Passaglia

PAOLO PASSAGLIA, Introduction 1

Part I

Constitutional Reform in Italy: Past and Present

JÖRG LUTHER, Learning Democracy from the History of Constitutional Reforms 9

GRAZIELLA ROMEO, The Italian Constitutional Reform of 2016: An ‘Exercise’ of Change at the Crossroad between Constitutional Maintenance and Innovation 31

GIACOMO DELLEDONNE AND GIUSEPPE MARTINICO, Yes or No? Mapping the Italian Academic Debate on the Constitutional Reform 49

ELETTRA STRADELLA, Italy after the Constitutional Referendum: Legal and Political Scenarios, from the Public Debate to the ‘Electoral Question’ 61

Part II

Views on the Future of Constitutional Reform

BENIAMINO CARAVITA DI TORITTO, The Constitutional Reform, between a Lost Opportunity and a Negative Outlook 85

PAOLO CARROZZA, The Paradoxes of Constitutional Reform	91
UGO DE SIERVO, For an Effective Improvement of Our Institutions	105
GIUSEPPE FRANCO FERRARI, A Deadlock Difficult to Break	113

Part III

Views from Abroad

PETER J. LEYLAND, Referendums, Constitutional Reform and the Perils of Popular Sovereignty	121
JASON MAZZONE, Amendmentphobia	133
PASQUALE PASQUINO, The Un-constituent Power of the People. Article 138 of the Italian Constitution and Popular Referendum	139
DIAN SCHEFOLD, Constitutional Reform and Constitutional Unity	147